

CONFLICTS OF INTEREST

BACKGROUND

Individuals who support the American Board of Emergency Medicine's (ABEM) activities may be asked to participate in an activity that would present a conflict of interest with their ABEM activities. The following policy is intended to guide the current president, Directors, all ABEM-appointed representatives to subspecialty or Focused Practice designation subboards or examination committees, written examination item writers, and Certifying Examination examiners when faced with decisions about participating in other activities.

POLICY

It is the policy of ABEM that the current president, Directors, ABEM-appointed subspecialty or Focused Practice designation representatives, item writers, and Certifying Examination examiners shall avoid all conflicts of interest. A conflict of interest is a direct or indirect financial, personal, or other interest, that could reasonably be perceived as limiting an individual's ability to serve the best interests of the Board without discrimination or favoritism. Indirect interests include the individual's relatives and institutions, associations, businesses, or other organizations, whether or not for-profit, that employ or hold some other claim to the individual's primary loyalty.

Each individual has the personal responsibility to identify when a conflict of interest exists or appears to exist, and to take appropriate action to eliminate the conflict or the appearance of a conflict. If the individual is unsure whether a conflict exists, all relevant information should be disclosed to the ABEM staff for handling. All ABEM Board meetings begin with a request for a Declaration of Conflicts of Interest as an additional means of uncovering such issues, if they exist.

When any staff or volunteer named in this policy encounters a conflict of interest, it is the policy of ABEM that if the conflict cannot be removed or resolved in collaboration with the staff and Board leadership present, the person avoids the conflict by recusing themselves from the situation that presents the conflict for them. Recusal here means temporarily not participating in a situation where a conflict exists. This policy does not touch on an individual's overall service to ABEM.

ABEM staff is authorized to resolve potential conflicts of interest that are clearly identified by current Board policy as not being a conflict.

EXCEPTION

None.

Individuals will be required to sign a statement attesting that they have read and understand all relevant policies.

Individuals will be required to sign a statement attesting that they have no conflict of interest at the current time or that they have or may have an existing conflict of interest.

If they have no conflict of interest at this time, they will be required to attest that they will notify ABEM staff if one develops.

If they have or may have an existing conflict of interest, they will be asked to describe the perceived conflict in writing. If the declaration of a conflict of interest occurs during a Board of Directors meeting, that declaration is included in the written meeting minutes. If the declaration of conflict warrants, the person with the conflict must disqualify themselves from participation. This will also be documented in the minutes.

All conflicts of interest or perceived conflicts of interest will be directed to the ABEM staff.

PROCESS FOR HANDLING CONFLICTS

- All ABEM Board of Directors Meetings begin with a request to divulge any conflicts of interest. Any such declarations are documented in the meeting minutes.
 - All potential conflicts of interest under the Conflicts of Interest Policy will be submitted to ABEM staff. Two managers are responsible for securing signatures on these documents. ABEM will inform all individuals signing necessary Conflict of Interest forms that, in instances where the conflict cannot be resolved, recusal will be a possible result of a declared conflict in order to prevent it.
 - Staff will obtain all necessary related information and present it, along with a recommendation, to the President.
 - The President will determine if a conflict exists.
 - The President, in consultation with ABEM staff, will determine the best course of action.
 - If the President declares a conflict of interest, the President-elect will preside over the actions with which the President declared a conflict. This situation is documented in the minutes of the event in which the declaration occurs.
 - Staff will implement the President's decision.
 - The President will bring the situation to the Executive Committee for resolution under the following circumstances:
 1. The President is unclear if a conflict exists; or
 2. The selected course of action does not yield a clear resolution for the volunteer or the Board.
 - If it is necessary to bring the situation to the Executive Committee, the Committee will make the final decisions regarding any potential conflicts of interest.
